

CONSUMER PATHWAY

Putting consumers in control of their AT solutions

Part of the process in getting the right assistive technology (AT) solution, is to ask the right people the right questions. Our health professionals can provide you with a comprehensive service to assist you on your AT journey.

Circle of support

Mobilise your circle of support

The pathway will enable you to know who these people are and how they can assist you.

“Working together creates a whole new level of conversation”

Expert AT users

Other AT users are an invaluable source of information. Their personal experience of the process of AT selection can help you locate and use local supports.

Suppliers

Suppliers are the experts on their own specific brands and product range. They can provide you with a lot of valuable information about the features and operation of products in their range.

AT professionals

Your AT professionals are essential in the process to ensure there is a good match between you, your AT, your environment and what you want to achieve
